

Vision Statement for the Enfield Standing Advisory Council for Religious Education

The Enfield Standing Advisory Council for Religious Education (SACRE) envisions a future where all pupils in our schools flourish spiritually, emotionally, and morally. We strive to nurture an inclusive environment where every child feels valued and accepted, whatever their religion, or non-religious worldview.

Our mission is to foster understanding and respect among children and young people by ensuring they comprehend the diverse religious practices and worldviews that shape our shared history and culture. We are committed to:

- Engaging pupils through interactive teaching and facilitating discussions, enabling them to appreciate and respect the differences and similarities between practices and beliefs.
- Empowering teachers with the confidence, resources, and training necessary to deliver an effective Religious Education (RE) curriculum that goes beyond mere knowledge acquisition to foster genuine understanding and empathy.
- Promoting inclusivity by representing and involving all pupils in various events, including collective worship, ensuring they feel included and appreciated.
- Encouraging pupils to explore and enjoy learning about different religions and non-religious worldviews, thereby preparing them to navigate a society rich in diverse beliefs and practices.

We believe that by supporting teachers by providing a quality RE syllabus and training, we can cultivate children and young people who are confident in their beliefs and values, and respectful of others', while maintaining academic rigor. This holistic approach equips them to meet the opportunities, challenges, and responsibilities of living in a rapidly changing world.

Together, through engaging, exploring, and flourishing, we aim to create a community where shared humanity and understanding are at the core of the educational journey.
